DRUG DELIVERY IN WAHINGTON
DEFENSE FROM EXPERIENCED SEATTLE DRUG CRIME ATTORNEYS

Drug delivery is a very serious criminal offense that is treated very seriously by police officers and prosecutors. Drug delivery is a criminal act that involves the act of selling, delivering or distributing a controlled substance. This type of drug offense can be charged as either a Federal or State crime depending upon where the drug delivery occurred, and in either case you risk facing very harsh consequences if convicted.

The specific punishments for drug delivery vary based on a number of factors including the classification or schedule of drug that was delivered, the geographic location where the drug was delivered, the amount of drug delivered, and whether or not minors were involved in the delivery act. If you are convicted of drug delivery in Washington, you could face the following penalties:

- Long prison sentences
- Large monetary fines
- Long probationary / supervision periods
- Drug testing / rehabilitation/counseling
- Registration as a narcotics offender
- Deportation (if not a U.S. citizen)
- Search and seizure of property

DRUG DELIVERY CHARGES: WHY YOU NEED LEGAL DEFENSE

If you have been charged with this drug offense, you are going to need a Seattle criminal defense lawyer to represent you. Finding representation can be a very tough decision because so much depends on the abilities, experience and skills of your attorney. The lawyers at our Seattle firm have a great deal of experience representing clients who have been charged with drug delivery or intent to deliver.

It is imperative that your attorney be familiar working with cases involving drug charges because they will be better equipped to defend you. Drug crime defense tactics are very different than other types of criminal charges and involve a great deal of specific knowledge about federal and state drug laws. The drug crime defense lawyers at our firm have the knowledge, skills, and experience necessary to effectively defend you.

Contact a Seattle drug crime attorney today if you have been charged with drug delivery!