SEATTLE FELONY DRUG CRIME LAWYER

WHAT ARE FELONY DRUG CRIMES?

There is a wide array of drug offenses a person can be charged with, but felony drug crimes are the most serious. Being charged with a felony for a drug offense is generally caused by the type of drug that is involved in the offense, as well as the amount that was confiscated or found. Penalties in felony drug crime charges are much harsher than those for a misdemeanor, carrying not only higher fines and penalties, but much longer sentences as well.

Oftentimes, crimes that are drug related can carry other offenses such as sex crimes, robbery and assault. With the help of a Seattle criminal defense lawyer from Lewis & Laws, PLLC, we offer our 45 years of collective experience to our clients who find themselves with eminent drug charges. Often federal investigative bureaus become involved in serious drug charges, including:

- Trafficking
- Drug manufacturing
- Drug distribution
- Drug sales
- Illegal possession

AGGRESSIVE DEFENSE FOR FELONY DRUG CHARGES IN WASHINGTON

Lawyers at our firm have former experience as prosecutors and are well aware of how the prosecution goes about establishing their case in order to obtain a conviction. We know all the tricks and tactics and have extensive experience trial experience. Our legal team will seek to investigate the allegations against you and challenge any evidence that may have been obtained illegally. Search and seizure laws must be followed exactly in order for evidence to be valid.

Our goal remains to provide you with excellent and personal customer service while we work diligently to mount a compelling defense. Our goal is to have you exonerated of all charges, but we can also aggressively negotiate with the prosecutors for a reduction of charges if necessary. Avoiding a conviction or reducing a charge to a misdemeanor is always our objective. Contact us today so that we may begin looking into how we can help.