DRUNK DRIVING AS A MINOR
SEATTLE UNDER 21 DUI LAWYERS

Washington law makes it illegal for any underage person (under 21 years old) to operate a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol. If a person is under 21, and has a blood alcohol content of .02 percent or higher, they can be charged with underage DUI, which is a misdemeanor offense. A blood alcohol content level at or above .02 percent is evidence of a violation of the law, and underage violators will be charged accordingly. Police officers, prosecutors, and judges are known for being tough on underage drinkers in an effort to deter future delinquent behaviors.

To them, if an underage person is punished harshly for their delinquent actions now, they will be less likely to drive drunk in the future. If you have been charged with underage DUI, it is very important for you to have representation from an experienced Seattle DUI lawyer who knows how to handle these types of charges.

AGGRESSIVE DEFENSE FOR UNDERAGE DUIs

The DUI defense lawyers have worked with many college students who have been charged with underage drinking. Because of the lifestyles of college students, our attorneys see many cases of underage DUI occur with students who have been caught driving under the influence and are now in danger of paying the price. Sadly, a conviction for this type of charge could be very harmful to their lives, jeopardizing college loans, scholarships, college admissions, employment opportunities, extracurricular activities and many other future opportunities.

Your Seattle DUI attorney will work hard to make sure you don't miss out on important future opportunities because of an underage DUI charge. The DUI lawyers at our firm have the legal expertise necessary to effectively defend you against underage DUI charges. The consequences from being convicted of this offense could negatively affect your life for years to come, so you will need a superior legal advocate fighting for you. Having your charges reduced or dismissed is an ideal resolution to your case, and your attorney will work very hard to obtain the best resolution to your case.